Youth20 (Y20) is the Official Youth Engagement Group in the G20 and, for the first time in history, will be led by Brazil in 2024.

Throughout the year, a set of fundamental activities will be developed for the process of articulation, dialogue, and negotiation of the document with the claims and proposals of the youth for the G20 Leaders' Summit.

Closing the flow of official agendas for the preparation of the communiqué, the Y20 Summit will be held in August in the city of Rio de Janeiro. With a 5-day program, the work and negotiation meetings of the Y20 Summit are interspersed with moments of cultural immersion and formative spaces that can expand the repertoire of knowledge of the delegations about the social contexts of Brazil and the mobilizations of the country in the face of the priority themes of discussion.

This document presents a brief contextualization of the G20 and Y20 processes in Brazil, as well as a descriptive account of the programming and objectives of the Y20 Summit event in Brazil.

Group of Twenty - G20

The G20 (Group of Twenty) is the main forum for international economic cooperation, playing an essential role in shaping and strengthening the global architecture and governance on all major international economic issues. G20 members represent around 85% of global GDP, 75% of worldwide trade, and approximately 2/3 of the planet's population.

In 2023, the G20 was chaired by the Republic of India, which hosted the Summit of Heads of State or Government. Since December 1, 2023, the Federative Republic of Brazil has held the rotating presidency of the G20, which will host the Leaders' Summit in 2024. In addition to Brazil, the G20 member countries are India, South Africa, Argentina, Australia, Canada, China, France, Germany, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Russia, Saudi Arabia, South Korea, Türkiye, the United Kingdom, the United States of America, the African Union (which will participate for the first time this year), and the European Union.

Spain is a permanent guest at the G20, which also includes countries invited by the host country to participate during the term. Under the Brazilian Presidency, the current guest countries are Angola, Egypt, Nigeria, Norway, Portugal, Singapore, and the United Arab Emirates.

Brazil holds the presidency of the G20 from December 1, 2023, to November 30, 2024. Initially, the G20 focused mainly on general macroeconomic issues, but expanded its agenda to include topics such as trade, sustainable development, health, agriculture, energy, the environment, climate change, and the fight against corruption.

The G20 Leaders' Summit is the meeting between the Heads of State or Government of the member countries. The term "Summit" originates from its English definition and refers to the highest point of a mountain. The Summit is, therefore, the culmination of more than a hundred G20 meetings over the course of a year. In Brazil, the event is scheduled for November 18 and 19, 2024, in Rio de Janeiro.

G20 Social

One of the Brazilian federal government's hallmarks of the administration of President Lula is that civil society may be heard in public policy construction processes. This decision is the same for the international agenda. The G20 Social was announced by President Lula at the 18th G20 Summit of Heads of Government and State in New Delhi, India, when Brazil symbolically took on the group's presidency. The G20 Social's goal is to increase the participation of non-governmental stakeholders in G20 activities and decision-making processes. During the Brazilian presidency, the G20 will carry a special motto: "Building a Just World and a Sustainable Planet."

As part of a plural, diverse country with authority to address fundamental issues such as climate change and the fight against hunger and poverty, the G20 Social will ensure space for the voices, struggles, and demands of populations and non-governmental stakeholders from member countries that are the world's largest economies. This is how internal national policies are being handled — and how the Brazilian G20 presidency wants to strengthen discussions on the many topics that are addressed by G20 engagement groups. They must reflect the global character of the common challenges experienced by our populations. Furthermore, Brazil wants civil society collaborations to be analyzed and, whenever appropriate and with consensus, incorporated into the Leaders' Declaration.

The 13 Engagement Groups that are a part of the G20 Social are the following: C20 (civil society); T20 (think tanks); Y20 (youth); W20 (women); L20 (work); U20 (cities); B20 (business); S20 (science); Startup20 (startups); P20 (parliaments); SAI20 (supreme audit institutions); and the newest J20 (supreme courts) and O20 (oceans). These groups must provide a broad structure to forward the demands and aspirations of G20 countries' societies to their leaders and influence grouping decisions. More than 50 engagement group meetings and other activities involving societies from the group's countries have been planned during the Brazilian G20 presidency.

In addition to the activities that are inherent to the 13 Engagement Groups, the G20 Social will also include initiatives and events to be carried out in coordination between the political (Sherpa Track), financial (Finance Track), and said groups, as well as non-governmental initiatives outside the latter's contexts. The Brazilian presidency will also promote discussions on new mechanisms to ensure the influence of non-governmental stakeholders in grouping meetings.

The highlight of the G20 Social will be the Social Summit to be held between November 15 and 17th, 2024, on the eve of the G20 Leaders' Summit, both in Rio de Janeiro. The Social Summit will be the stage that will showcase the work developed over almost a year by societies; a rich panorama of the exchange of experiences between non-governmental agents that will certainly show new paths for the construction of policies that reflect values such as social, economic, and environmental justice; and the fight to reduce all types of inequality.

Youth20 - Y20

As an integral part of the G20 Social and fundamental axis of the forums of dialogue with civil society, Youth20 (Y20) is the official youth engagement group in the G20.

As the world advances into an increasingly interconnected and complex future, the role of youth becomes vital in the formulation of public policies and social transformation. Y20 emerges in this scenario, providing young leaders from all over the world with the opportunity to participate as protagonists in the processes of reflection on global issues, share experiences and knowledge, argue, negotiate, and build proposals, solutions, and consensus for the discussions and decisions of the G20.

Officially held since 2010, the Y20 has become widely recognized as one of the forums with the highest level of international influence and one of the most important in the world on the subject of youth.

This year, the Brazilian Presidency of the Y20, led by the National Youth Council, proposes the reflection around 5 themes, which will be the subject of discussion between 5 delegates from each country that will participate in the Brazilian edition of the G20: the 19 member countries (Brazil, India, South Africa, Argentina, Australia, Canada, China, France, Germany, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Russia, Saudi Arabia, South Korea, Türkiye, the United Kingdom, and the United States of America), the two regional bodies (the African Union and the European Union), in addition to Spain, Angola, Egypt, Nigeria, Norway, Portugal, Singapore, and the United Arab Emirates — the guest countries.

Y20 Kick Off Meeting

The Kick Off Meeting was the launch and publicity event of the Youth20 (Y20) process in 2024, held on March 20 with the purpose of acting as an expanded space for institutional presentation on the activities to be developed and qualified exposure on the themes prioritized within the scope of the Engagement Group.

The event took place in person at the premises of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Brazil and was attended by the Sherpa of Brazil for the G20, the Minister of the General Secretariat of the Presidency of the Republic of Brazil, representations of the Embassies of the G20 members, representations of the Federal, State, District and Municipal Governments of Brazil, representations of Youth Councils, as well as members of the other official G20 Engagement Groups, media outlets, international organizations and, especially, civil society (including youth leaders, political parties, social movements and activists, youth organizations and organizations that support young people).

At the same time, valuing the essential need for broad participation and the feasibility of access for the largest number of people possible (especially young people from all over the world) to the transmitted content, the activities were recorded, which is available virtually and disseminated through the link: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=NPVONyWzPyM>

Regional Dialogues

Maintaining the G20 protocol, the Youth20 negotiation spaces are restricted to international delegations. However, the Y20 Brazil 2024 Governance has implemented strategies to disseminate the discussion agendas to civil society, thus ensuring plural representation and expanding the participation of Brazilian youth.

The Regional Dialogues, selected through a public notice, have as their main objective to stimulate the decentralization of the dialogue on the priority topics of discussion for Youth20 (Y20), through the holding of associated in-person and virtual events throughout Brazil.

To date, 30 Regional Dialogues have been approved, and, due to the demand for holding more events, a new selection will be reopened. The discussions held in these spaces will be systematized by the organizers, under the coordination of the Youth20 (Y20) governance, for later final systematization and presentation of conclusions as part of the subsidy for the Brazilian Delegation's impact on the Y20 Summit.

Y20 Side Event at ECOSOC Youth Forum

As part of the Y20 set of activities on April 17, it was held at the Consulate General of Brazil in New York the side event "Y20 and the Summit of the Future: Youth Leading Global Change", which brought together leaders of civil society and government authorities from the G20 countries to discuss and strengthen the role of young people as leaders of global change.

The event took place as one of the activities associated with the Youth Forum of the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations (ECOSOC Youth Forum). The meeting was attended by global leaders such as the United Nations Assistant Secretary-General for Youth Affairs, Felipe Paullier; the Secretary General of the International Youth Organization for Ibero America, Max Trejo; the National Secretary of Youth of the General Secretariat of the Presidency of the Brazilian Republic, Ronald Sorriso; the Chairman of Y20 and President of the National Youth Council of Brazil, Marcus Barão; the Co-Chair of the Y20, Ingrid Siss; and the Executive Secretary of Y20, Pedro Duval. Among the other participants will also be experts, representatives of international organizations, government authorities, activists, and leaders of the civil society of the G20 countries.

The audience for the event reached the maximum capacity of the place, with 100 people participating in person. And to ensure access to information and discussion content, an international broadcast of the event was carried out through the live coverage carried out by the regional office of Grupo Globo. Y20 Pre-Summit

The state of Pará will host in 2025 the 30th Conference of the Parties (COP30), the largest global environmental event. Considering the relevance of the state for the debate of the agenda as well as being one of the priority topics of discussion of the Youth20 (Y20) — Climate Change, Energy Transition, and Sustainable Development — the city of Belém do Pará was chosen to host the Y20 Pre-Summit.

The Pre-Summit took place between June 17 and 19, 2024. The event brought together a total of more than 1000 young people from the Amazon who participated in the opening ceremony, dialogue panels, and working groups — promoting at the end a letter of recommendations that was delivered to the official Delegates of Y20. In addition to local youth from the State of Pará, the meeting brought together in person international delegations of G20 members and Amazon Cooperation Treaty Organization (ACTO) countries, representatives of all states of Brazil, as well as young leaders and social, youth and environmental activists.

The specific objectives of the Y20 Pre-Summit were:

- To promote debates and lectures on the topics proposed by the Brazilian Presidency at the G20, considering respect for human rights and sustainable development;
- Share the countries' perceptions, policy views, and priorities on each track;
- To promote meetings between the Y20 delegations and youth movements and organizations in Brazil, with particular emphasis on the youth of the Amazon;
- Deepen discussions on the environment and climate change within the G20, with solid contributions and protagonism from Amazonian youth;
- Strengthen the connections between the G20 and Y20 debates and COP 30;
- Strengthen the integration of young leaders from the Legal Amazon States and their relationship with young leaders from G20 countries.

Y20 participation in the 3rd Sherpa Meeting

Youth20 has been invited to participate in a joint meeting between the Sherpas and the coordinators of the G20 Engagement Groups on the occasion of the 3rd Sherpa Meeting in the context of the Brazilian mandate. The meeting took place in Rio de Janeiro on July 4th.

On a historic day for the G20 Brazil, for the first time the 13 G20 Social Engagement Groups presented their initial considerations to the Group's countries directly to the Sherpas, in a moment that represents Brazil's proposal to include civil society in discussions and decision-making processes on global issues.

“The Sherpas are responsible for preparing this process, assisting leaders to organize the final Summit, and also producing the Leaders’ Declaration”, explained the Brazilian Sherpa, Ambassador Mauricio Lyrio. “We prepared and negotiated the texts so that the leaders can endorse them or make modifications in specific parts. Some issues are naturally left for the final negotiations, as not everything can be negotiated or solved beforehand.”

The Sherpas discussed the advancement of the work under the Brazilian G20 presidency, with a particular focus on the task forces for a Global Alliance against Hunger and Poverty and the Global Mobilization against Climate Change.

Y20 Summit

- Event dates
August 10-17, 2024
- City of the event
Rio de Janeiro, Brazil
- Primary goals

The Y20 Summit will be held in 2024 in Rio de Janeiro, symbolically during the week of International Youth Day, and will take place at the end of an extensive agenda of meetings and events throughout the year. In the context of this impact during the months preceding the final G20 event on the Brazilian presidency, Youth20 aims to bring the five themes for debate throughout Brazil, with face-to-face and virtual plenary sessions, to ensure a process with the strong participation of Brazilian youth and young immigrants living in Brazil.

The proposal is that the Y20 Summit will have the participation of 145 delegates from the G20 participating countries, meeting in Rio de Janeiro in August 2024 together with other young people and special guests, authorities, youth public policy managers, youth organizations, international organizations and other supporters of the Engagement Group process and its priority issues. At the event, the delegations were able to negotiate and synthesize their perspectives on the 5 thematic work groups and, in this way, outline the Youth perspective for this important economic, social, and political forum.

In parallel to the negotiations of the 'Communiqué' (official statement) to be presented at the G20 Leaders' Summit, the Y20 Summit will feature training, discussion, and cultural exchange activities aimed at the Delegations and also open to the public through prior coordination with interested organizations and young people. To participate, including young people served by public policies and projects in Rio de Janeiro and young people living in other parts of Brazil.

The objective of this dialogue with youth is effective participation within the G20, with the preparation of a statement with the demands and priorities identified during the participatory process in the previous months and during the Summit. This statement will reflect the priority agenda of Youth, be widely disseminated throughout society and formally presented to the Heads of State or Government.
